BROOKLINE FIRE TO BE PROBED

Nurse Rescues Three Children; Two Firemen Injured

The Brookline police are investigating a fire at No. 208 Rawson road, Brookline, the third in a month, where today two firemen were injured and three children were carried to safety by Miss Florence L. Blanc, a nurse, and damage estimated at $20,000 was caused.

One of the features of the blaze was the rescue of a cat and canary from the second floor by a fireman. Matthew Nolan, a brother-in-law of George M. Cohen, the fireman, saved a large amount of valuable jewelry.

One of the firemen injured is Arthur Jacobs, Henry Horgan, and G. Frank Blue. The other was unidentified, out reported by the police.

The fire, fanned by high wind, spread to No. 202 Rawson road, but was quickly controlled there.

The fire started in the apartment on the second floor at No. 208, next to the French Embassy. It ate through to the lower floor, where Miss Le Blanc was caring for James Mason, also son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mason; Libby, five and Myer Jacobs, two, children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Jacobs.

HIGH COURT TO SETTLE PONZITROW

Will Pass on Question of Returning Money Withdrawn Before the Bubble Burst

The United States Supreme Court is to decide whether persons who invested with Charles Ponzitrow, but who withdrew their money just before the Ponzitrow bubble broke, can keep this money or must turn it in to the Ponzitrow estate in charge of the insolvent estate.

Edward A. Thurston of Boston and Full River, the former Democratic state chairman, appointed by the court to settle Ponzitrow's affairs, as trustee, sought to compel Benjamin Brown of Boston and five other investors to turn back to him, for the benefit of all creditors, money which Ponzitrow had returned to them just before the crash.

The Federal Court at Boston held that they were entitled to retain their money on the ground that they had merely got back their own. But the Supreme Court at Washington today granted a review of the case.

Lloyd George Is Blunt

'Loot, Not Reparations'

Ford Is Cheerful

The Trotsky Romance

By Arthur Brisbane

THE article published yesterday, Lloyd George talks more plainly than ever about England's recent dear allies, the French, and their invasion of Germany. "An immense cost and iron combine," engineered by French finance, backed up by the powerful French army, means to have Europe at its mercy.

France, according to Lloyd George, "has abandoned all idea of recovering reparations, and is now brooding upon loot—an immense scale."

LOYD GEORGE, recently head of the British government, bluntly tells what he and other Englishmen think of the situation on the continent. He thinks the French plan will not work, because "German patriotism has still to be heard from," and because "Russia refuse to take their places as pawns in the game."

IT is clear that the French plan is to carry out the original idea of Marshal Foch. A devout Catholic, the Marshal has believed from the first that the way to settle the German menace and free France from future danger is to separate Catholic South Germany from Protestant Prussia and North Germany. The plan the French army is now carrying out, directed doubtless by Foch, is to separate the Catholic South from the Protestant North Germans, if the thing were done tactfully and cunningly.

Again there is the question of "parishism," an unscrupulous element in everything. Religion is sometimes stronger than nationality. Interesting things will happen in Europe before that Ruhr question is settled.

HENRY FORD tells the Reverend Mr. Stidger, of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Detroit, that he feels optimistic. No wonder, for he says "there are already 705,000 Ford cars ordered for March, and we can only manufacture 104,000."

Apert to his own prosperity, which seems satisfactory, Ford tells the Reverend Mr. Stidger that pretty nearly everybody in this country is going to be prosperous, that there will be expansion and good times. "We have money. We have raw products. We have room. We have men. We have ideas, we have the people. Let us expand."

Not a bad condensation of the situation.

TROTSKY, Most powerful man in Russia because of Lenin's illness, has written a brief statement of his life for the Bolshevik records. He tells how he spent ten years in nine different prisons. Today he commands the Russian army, with a million men ready to fight, and

Wagonload of Whiskey and Paraphernalia Found; Two Men Arrested

ELYRIA, O., March 5.—With advice to "take care of him," he got just one week to live, a stranger appeared at the old Half Homestead on West Road street, eight days ago with a sick, helpless cripple, whom he deposited in the door and left.

The cripple died on scheduled time and was identified today as John Huff, college graduate, who disappeared in December, 1893, on the eve of the murder of his wife in Cleveland.

Of late years the old homestead has been occupied by his sister, Miss Julia Huff, who lives there alone. Eight days ago a stranger rang the doorbell and asked Miss Huff if she had a brother.

"I had," she said. "He's been away for years."

"Well, here he is. Take care of him—the doctor says he's just got one week to live," said the visitor. His sister helped him to bed. To all appearances he was a physician, the man professed. Huff and his wife separated in 1893. A few days later his wife was found stabbed to death in Cleveland.

Huff's description was sent broadcast, but despite his really remarkable appearance—his left arm was missing and his left eye was gone—he never was located.

BRITISH MINISTER OF HEALTH DEFEATED

London, March 5 (By the Associated Press).—The Minister of Health in the House of Commons, has been defeated in the hygienic for the Maudslayi division of Surrey by the Conservative, the late Captain Stanley.

The end of the session came with its usual hilarity. A part of the Marine Band was a musical and patriotic and other songs sung while other informal exercises.

SINGING THE SWAN SONG IN THE HOUSE

By special delivery mail, the Boston American has forwarded to the editor of the State Street Harmonica, sometimes known as the Boston Herald, a brand new hot water bottle.

The American recently offered a hot water bottle for a prize for the best letter as to whether or not Post Administrator James J. Phelan was a member of the Harmonica.

The committee predicted music would go to 11 a million.

Mr. Nicholas declared his association has been contending for years that "pipe lines should be divorced from the oil business."

When the committee's resolution that discriminatory freight rates have been brought up, the National Petroleum Marketers' Association, which opposes the bill, has been brought up.

Every independent oil producer in the mid-continent region knows that the discriminatory rates are not.

The reader will see that the Herald, instead of answering a question, has asked one. The American pointed long as to whether or not a gallon jar of soft soap might not be a more appropriate prize for such a question, but knowing the Harmonica's fondness for hot water bottles it gave away over 15,000 of them in 1922 to encourage reluctant readers to be sent.

FLIGHT IS MYSTERY TO POLICE

Youthful Mate of Frank L. Taylor Believed to Be Hiding in Chicago

By HERT FORD.

Mrs. Julia Hawthorth Taylor, girl wife of Frank L. Taylor, jailed president of the First National Bank of Warren, has disappeared.

Federal agents are unable to locate her.

She left Warren last week for Chicago, it was learned.

Officials working on the case admitted today that Mrs. Taylor has no cause to flee, unless prompted by a personal desire to escape—being called as a witness.

Officials lean to the opinion that Mrs. Taylor is in seclusion in Chicago in order to be near her husband, who with Abraham Graham is held in that city as a fugitive from justice in connection with the slaying of the Warren man.

FEDERAL PROBE TIGHTENED.

Federal probe of local suspects implicated by Taylor was pressed with vigor today.

The investigation is known to include the Riworth Corporation, which formerly had offices on Madison avenue, New York. Mrs. Taylor claimed her husband was sent to New York to confer with officials of that company before he purchased the First National Bank in Warren for the Marston-Goldman-Taylor interests.

The Riworth Corporation and its operations appear to be veiled in mystery. Records in the office of Secretary of State in Albany show the company was incorporated May 15, 1922. It is reported to have succeeded in raising $250,000.

REGARDED AS STUDENT.

The incorporators were Bergen A. MacKinnon, No. 235 West 39th street, New York; Minnie Goldman, No. 212 Fifth avenue, New York, and M. B. Townsend, No. 63 Astor street, Boston. Inquiry at the latter address showed that Townsend left there several months ago. He was looked upon as a student and associated with members of the Back Bay student colony, it was said.

State records in Albany show MacKinnon held five shares common stock with a par value of $100; Minnie Goldman, 124 shares of common; and Townsend, five shares of common. The company was authorized to capitalize at $250,000.

The purpose of the company was "to buy, sell, exchange and generally deal in government, municipal and industrial bonds and other securities; also to loan money secured by mortgages on personal property."

The company was organized for the purpose of maintaining hotels, restaurants and their equipment.

RETURNS LOST ROLL, $7,000; GETS KISS

In the presence of her husband and scores of onlookers in the South Station, Mrs. Henry Weston of Greenville, N. J., embraced and kissed her husband William J. Brothers, a taxi-driver of No. 61 Gata street, South Boston.

And her husband cheered and presented Brothers with a new $100 bill. There are no complications, for Brothers' wife, the mother of his four children, is happy.

"I am glad Bill is so honest," she said.

Here's the wherefore. The Westons rode in Brothers' cab from the North to the South Station. Inside the station, as he stepped to the ticket window, the New Jersey found that his wallet, containing $4,000 in securities and $4,000 in cash was missing.

He informed the police and rushed out of the station, retracing his path from where he had alighted from the cab. The wallet was not to be found. He returned to his wife just as Brothers pulled into the station from a fast run to return the wallet and the cash.

"Did you lose something, Mr. Weston?" Brothers asked.

"I should say I did; I see you've found it," Brothers passed over the wallet with a smile. Mrs. Weston fell on his neck. Her husband separated a "century" from the roll and passed it over.

The Armstrong Transfer Company, employers of Brothers, also plan to reward him for his honesty, according to General Manager W. L. Roberts.

RESERVES TO CAMP AT DEVENS JULY 8-22

Major-General A. W. Brewster announced the three New England Divisions of the Organized Reserves, the 7th Rhode Island and Connecticut, the 44th Massachusetts, and the 97th Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, will hold their encampments at Devens, from July 8 to 22, inclusive.

Some 1,400 New England Reserves are expected to undergo the training period of fifteen days at the camp. Last year only 500 officers were called. One hundred of these reserve officers will remain on duty an extra month to assist in the training of 3,000 New England young men who will be enrolled in the Citizens' Military Training camp.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Ready and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 50c ounces of Pine's fruit syrup, pour it into a full bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer use clarified honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen and raw membranes, usually stopping the annoying throat tickle and dried cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, whooping cough, hoarseness or laryngeal asthma.

Pine's is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "50c ounces of Pine's" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give complete satisfaction or money refunded. The Pine's Co., St. Wayne, Ind.

CLOTHES FOR A PURPOSE

Business, sport and social affairs demand different styles of dress. The man with a limited wardrobe is handicapped. Own enough clothes for all occasions. Dress suitably, as well as smartly.

For business--- A three or four-button sack suit in gray, blue or brown; some men prefer a fancy mixture or an indistinct stripe; trousers, looser and longer, may be worn with or without cuff. The same conservative distinction governs the other belongings of business dress.

Business suits for men and young men 30.00 to 75.00

Business Topcoats in Fancy Mixtures, $25 to $50

For sport--- A belted Norfolk or a plain coat with sport pockets---in a fancy imported fabric or a smart overplaid; knickers, hung with a full drape, are baggy, with strap. Fabrics are rough chevots, fancy weaves, in light grays and soft tans. Soft collar shirts, of course, white or colored. Gay colored nose.

Golf suits for men and young men:
Three-piece 30.00 to 50.00
Four-piece 35.00 to 50.00

Sport Topcoats, Full Back or Belted; Rough Finish Materials, $25 to $50

For evening--- A tuxedo with a peaked or notched lapel is the best style for Spring; silk black vests are proper. Stiff bosom shirts are, to a great extent, taking the place of semi-starched.

Tuxedo suits 45.00 to 70.00
Dress suits 45.00 to 80.00
Black silk vests ... 6.00 to 10.00
White pique vests 5.00 to 8.00

Society to Aid Children's Hospital With Sale, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

NO. 45 Mt. Vernon street. Where intellectuals gather and discuss all the things that people get intellectual about. Where art and facts and books and "jams" and music and great causes provide food for an endless chain of thought.

That's No. 45 Mt. Vernon street. Which is the home of Professor and Mrs. Edward H. James and their two daughters, Olivia and Mary. To be present at their "at homes" is considered a distinction.

Both Mrs. James and her two daughters speak excellent French. They have, in fact, spent a good part of their lives in France. Olivia James discovered shortly after she "came out" some three Winters ago that the social life, undisturbed, was not all-sufficient. So she began to study scenic design at the Art Museum. Last year, when the Vincent Club presented their annual show, there was a line in the program which read: "Society designed by Olivia James."

It was the same way with Mary James. She came out in the Winter of 1922, only to find, like sister Olivia, that being a debutante wasn't, after all, the greatest thing a body could achieve. So Mary, too, hid herself to the school at the Museum, where she took up drawing. And, I believe, is still interested therein.

ALL of which reminds me that Mrs. James will read Stark Young's "Madretta" and Vahel Lindqvist's poems at the home of Mrs. Marion Lawrence Higgins, No. 54 Beacon street, on March 12.

On this afternoon there will be singing by Mrs. Daniel A. DeLeonard, who was of the artists taking part in the musicale given at the Chilton Club. The affair is for the benefit of the citizenship and educational work carried on by the Boston League of Women Voters, the committee in charge being comprised of Mrs. James J. Macdonald, Mrs. Arthur W. Moore, William Italy and William M. Pratt. There's a list of patronesses including such matrons as Mesdames Roland M. 11, Charles E. Inches, Allen A. Thordike, Edwin S. Webster, B. H. Britton, Draper, Frederick S. Whitwell and Alfred Winsor.

GALLI-CURCI'S HEALTH FUND IS CHARMING NOW $47,630.50

Still a box office attraction that crowns the Opera House from pit to roof is Amelia Galli-Curci, even when there is a strong counter attraction.

Mrs. Galli-Curci was assisted by Homer Samuels at the piano and Mary Barrett at the violin.

The Champion "Debut in Four" from "Loulou" and the "Etiole du Nord" were the highlights (Mary Barrett, were the only two big numbers that she heard.

Galli-Curci's voice is no longer the golden voice that America knew several years ago when she was singing with the Chicago Opera Company. However, that there is still charm in it for an amazing number of people was perfectly evident by the crowd on the applause that greeted her yesterday.

ASSAILANT OF WEST END GIRL IS ARRESTED

After a two days' search by the police, Louis Lamoureux, thirty-five years old, was arrested at his home, No. 2 St. Charles street, in the South End, charged with assault on Miss Helen Snelders, twenty-six years old, of Wall street, Canton.

Before Judge Sullivan, Lamoureux was sworn out, the police say, but the woman tired of Lamoureux and after meeting in front of the Back Bay station last week, an argument resulted in Lamoureux striking her.

Boston Cops Must Be Able to Swim After Fugitives

Boston policemen may be required to "swim their boats." If a fugitive takes to the water, it is indicated by an official questionnaire that the patrolmen will be expected to pursue. Police Commissioner Wilson is known to be contemplating the use of the Red Cross swimming system to train his officers in the art. Questionnaires mulling about their ability to swim have been sent to 1,000 policemen.

HARDING LAUDS WORLD COURT AS PEACE FORCE

By International News Service.

Washington, March 5.—Declaring that American participation in the Court of International Justice would constitute "one of the greatest advances which world society has made toward conditions in which at least the rule of law may be substituted for the rule of force," President Harding made acknowledgment of a resolution passed by the Ohio Legislature, extending the commendation of that State for the President's "courageous stand" in favor of the court.

The President, in his letter to Lieutenant Governor Bloom, declared that adherence of the United States to the program and purpose of the court of international justice "would represent a long and important step toward the assumption of those proper and entirely safe responsibilities in international affairs which would be borne by such a country as our own."

I have purposely chosen these cases dating some time back, in order to show that the cures are permanent, but I should like to add a few more recent ones.

M. X—, Post Office clerk at Lunenburg. Having lost one of his children in January, 1910, the trouble produced in him a cerebral disturbance which manifests itself by uncontrollable nervous trembling. His uncle brings him to me in the month of June. Preliminary experiments followed by suggestion. Four days afterwards the patient returns to tell me that the trembling has disappeared. I renew the suggestion and tell him to return in eight days.

A week, then a fortnight, then three weeks, then a month, pass by without my hearing any more of him. Shortly afterwards his uncle comes and tells me that he has just had a letter from his nephew, who is perfectly well. He has taken on his work as telegraphist which he had been obliged to give up, and the day before, he had sent off a telegram of 170 words without the least difficulty. He could easily, he added in his letter, have sent off an even longer one. Since then he has had no relapse.

M. Y—, of Nancy, has suffered from neurasthenia for several years. He has aversions, nervous fears, and disorders of the stomach and intestines. He sleeps badly, in gloomy and is haunted by ideas of suicide; he staggers when he walks like a drunken man, and can think of nothing but his trouble.

HEAR SACCO TRIAL PEARL THIS WEEK

Court Sets Friday as Date for New Appeal in Behalf of Braitree Slayers

Hearing of motions for a new trial of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted of murder in the shooting of a paymaster and his guard at South Braintree three years ago, was set for next Friday by Judge Webster Thayer of the Delleham Superior Court today.

Should the arguments be understood at the end of that day, the judge said he would sit again on March 15 to complete them.

Sacco, at the jail here, began the 17th day of refusal to eat the food supplied him by jail authorities. He continues to drink water from his cell.

His condition has not changed greatly in recent days, it was said, and his weakness is not such as to cause any immediate alarm.

Vanzetti is confined at the State prison under sentence for another offense.

Stone was her name before her marriage to Gron.

FOR ITS OWN STREETS

Blames Members for Balking Improvements; Asks $3,500,000 for New Projects

Condemning the policy which has retarded the development of Boston's streets, Mayor Curley set forth his $18,000,000 street-widening projects today at a public hearing before the legislative committee on municipal finance.

Demanding the right to spend $1,000,000 for the widening of Court and Exchange streets to a width of 100 feet, he declared the West End of Boston has stagnated and deteriorated for twenty-five years.

He declared the previous street section, opposite City Hall, was a fire and health menace, unsanitary and unsightly, which has been allowed to run down by the trustees content to sit tight and sit coupons.

WILL IMPROVE CITY.

If Exchange street is widened, he said, the Five Cent Savings Bank will build a new bank building to cost $2,000,000. He said he has also plans of the United Fruit Company for a $7,000,000 hotel on the site of the Boston Tavern.

The Boston Chamber of Commerce appeared in support of his Cambridge Court street widening.

"I can think of no one opposed to widening Mayor Curley," he said, "the Finance Commission, which is like the measles, had when permanent."

After enumerating as street developments amounting to $32,000,000 in St. Louis and $22,000,000 in Philadelphia, Mayor Curley said "We need more of the courage and wisdom which have developed the West and South."

BOGUS PRINCE WANTED HERE AS BIGAMIST

"PRINCE" AND TWO OF HIS WIVES. Above: Catherine Lynn of Dorchester, married to Harold Schwarm, who posed as the Prince of Saurheim. Below (right): Ethel Labette, who is said to have divorced him. Left: the "prince" himself, now under arrest at New Britain, Ct.

THE SCOTLAND YACHT ROUSED

Imposter Held in New Britain Is Charged With Deceiving Boston Girl and Others

His Royal Highness Prince Louis Henri de Chateaux de Bourbon is in jail at New Britain, Ct.

For the present he is being held on a technical charge of breach of the peace, but charges of perjury and bigamy will be preferred against him.

The prince, otherwise Harold Schwarm, once a mill hand in New Britain, was driven from town, he alleged to have married Catherine Lynn of Dorchester in Trenton, Tenn. under the name of Martin Van Buren while he had another wife living and undivorced.

The perjury charge is based on the allegations he made in March, 1921, when he married Miss Lillian Wilkerson in New Britain under the name of Mr. Reginald Van de Vere.

When police have gone to New Britain and they will seek extradition of the lounge prince, doctor, naval officer and financier.

The prince and his wife were met by a delegation of detectives as they were returning to New Britain astride a motorcycle. The police had been informed of their coming.

Among others of the "Prince's" alleged romantic conquests are those of the hearts of a Taunton girl, a New York girl, and Miss Elvira Worthington of Los Angeles, who, he alleged, she married the "Prince" was Ethel Labette. She divorced him, it was said.

Many details of the "Prince's" career are expected to be cleared up before New Britain releases the royal prisoner.

First inquiries will be made to determine the truth of the "Prince's" and the claims of still another "wife" that the "Prince" and she went through a marriage ceremony.

"The Prince" has had an interesting career, the police say. He has been known variously if not really, as "Martin J. Van Buren, a descendant of the President and his name," "Reginald" and "Harold Van de Vere," "nephew of Colonel John Jacob Astor," a foster-son of John D. Rockefeller, and as "Henry" and "Harold Jenkins, millionaire."

He has worked as a chef, a dishwasher, a salesman, and a hospital milliner, a banker, and a doctor. It is said.

When in Boston, while his "wife," the former Miss Lynn, worked in a Boston department store, Schwarm was employed as a dishwasher in one of a chain of luncheonettes. But when he started for his trip last fall, he was described as a man of affairs and an attendant, and had posed as a prince, having carried a physician's bag and a prescription pad.

PUBLIC GARAGE IN MIDDLESEX IS OPPOSED

When the petition of Frank M. Keefe for permission to erect a public garage and to keep gasoline at No. 221 Beacon street, was heard today before the street commissioners, it met a storm of protests from property owners.

Fashionably dressed women, some appearing with counsel, voiced the opinion that there were enough garages in the vicinity.

Mr. Keefe said the proposed garage would probably accommodate fifty cars. The entrance would be on Allen street, he said.

Among those who protested were Mrs. Sylvia C. Wynn, No. 3, Commonwealth terrace; Mrs. Henry W. Longfellow, owner of large apartment house on Allen street; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Baker of No. 4, Commonwealth terrace; Captain James T. Walker, No. 288 Allen street; D. M. Stine, attorney for Mrs. Walker of No. 18 Commonwealth avenue, who also appeared; Edward P. Pratt of No. 7 Boulevard terrace; J. L. Smith of Commonwealth terrace; Thomas H. Ford of No. 19 Commonwealth terrace; James A. Hix, Boulevard terrace and Allen street; Mrs. Michael Farrell, No. 268 Allen street; Mrs. C. H. Roberts, owner of the property on Allen street, opposite the proposed site.

Mr. Baker said he had canvassed the neighborhood and found the garage now located there very suitable to take care of any more ten cars. The board took the matter under advisement.

WOMAN SEEKS $25,000 FOR "NEGLECT"

Trial of the $25,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. George Doucette of Newton against Dr. Richard Collins, formerly of Boston City Hospital and Walworth City Hospital, began today in Middlesex Superior Court before Judge King.

The plaintiff who is a resident of Dr. Collins' office, charges that Dr. Collins operated on Douglas in 17, 1895, was still in full today, but she and her counsel said they were confident that a writ of habeas corpus would be obtained soon or else bail would be reduced.

SEEK 4TH GIRL IN SCHNEIDER DEATH CASE

(By International News Service) New York, March 5.—The Bronx County District Attorney's office is investigating the murder of Frederick Schneider, rich contractor, $1,400,000, a new track today by starting search for another woman.

Already the names of these women have been brought into the case. District Attorney Glavin obtained subpoenas for all Schneider's ledgers and check books to ascertain if he had been in the habit of giving money to any particular woman.

Although Mrs. Anna Louis, the beautiful divorcee with whom Schneider was living when he was shot to death, has raven black hair, Schneider's friends said he was partial to blonde.

Mrs. Buzi, who was arrested a week ago as a material witness and held in $25,000 bail, was still in jail today, but she and her counsel said they were confident that a writ of habeas corpus would be obtained soon or else bail would be reduced.

ASH BARREL BOW ENDS IN SO. END GUN CHASE

An argument over an ash barrel nearly caused a tragedy today.

George R. Rogers, colored, a store keeper at No. 1012 Tremont street, and James Nelson, also colored, of No. 12 Cabot street, Roxbury, had the argument. Nelson whisked Rogers in the jaw. The latter grabbed a gun.

Nelson ran down Cumnock street, Rogers chased. He fired one shot. Women, hearing the shooting and the cry of the men, screamed and telephoned to the police. Nelson ran into a strange house and hid in the door.

Then the police caught Rogers, who stood before the door shouting and brandishing his revolver.

MASTER TO HEAR DANCE CLUB CASE

Judge Morton today, in the Harry Messers case of the Roper City Court, ordered pleadings completed in the case of George P. Greene and others against the Roper City Club of Boston and will, on Saturday, appoint a master to hear the case in the suit.

These plaintiffs have for two years been suing the Roper City Club of Boston, and they now seek to force the respondents to reveal from using the name.

AMATEURS BATTLE FOR GLORY AT JOSEPH'S SHOW

TIPLITZ AND LAWLOR ON THE MAIN BOUT BOXERS

By JACK CONWAY.

Amateurs and pros. You can take your pick.

And we hope you will be satisfied. The watch chains and medal holders will do their stuff at the St. Joseph's A. C. boxing tournament at Commercial Hall, Bowdoin square, tonight. Bill Cully says he has received enough entries to fill a regiment. The boys also have an abundance of class.

The kids will furnish as much action as a gang of rook ball players do when they storm the field at one of those Southern baseball camps.

Tommy Hogan has also billed an amateur show for the Sacred Heart A. C. of East Boston for Thursday night.

That covers the boys who wouldn't take dough for their services if one of the A. A. T. leaders were present.

A little soft music, lower the lights please. Now give us the main bout.

Jack Lawlor of Omaha, a place where there are no wild battles any more, will referee with Joe Tiplitz of Philadelphia in a ten-round slugging at the Grand Opera House tomorrow night.

This card would ordinarily be packed into Mechanic Field.

It appears that the latter place is being used for a shill contest, tobacco sale or some such thing, and as a result is not suitable for the boys who love the padded mits around.

So Terry Lewis and Alex McLean will be obliged to be satisfied with a smaller dividend than they are rightfully entitled to.

As the fight is the thing, it is staged in the Grand Opera House or in your grandfather's loft, provided you are one of the kids who down front in the cheering section.

Lawlor—what has he done?

Who has he outwitted?

For the past five years Lawlor has been hopping around the United States, much the way you whirl into the city from East Boston, Algonquin or Jamaica Plain.

He does not think any more about a 1,000 mile railroad jump from most people about a coal burn.

The Omaha youth has battled victoriously every lightweight of prominence in his whirl around the world.

A few years ago Lawlor stopped off at Johnny Cully's Lancers Arena long enough to give Johnny Dundee a set afternoon. The decision went to Dundee, but only after a furious engagement.

They were going to fight. Lawlor, mayor of J. Dundee after the war, but encountered by machine gun with Young Kluge, a welshman, who spent a great deal of his time battling Leuchters. As Kluge had a ten-pound advantage he managed to get the decision.

Kluge is not in the match bill.

while Lawlor is still hopping from California to New York and then down to New Orleans just to keep busy as a fighting man.

And now for Tiplitz.

No one to spend much time writing about this bird.

He does his own publicity work with 1-2 fets.

He has beaten every New England lightweight he has met, as well as a number of other guys who are amateurs don't eat grapes on the bridge of the Mayflower.

Tiplitz has been termed a fighter.

Joe is a fighter, but he's far from a fighter.

You can punch him on the chin with your "rain your ankle."

He will surely smile, walk to the quarters and knock you as fit as your bank roll will be when you get through paying income tax on Edwin pie, pie bottles and tin ware.

Take Lawlor's record, also that of Tiplitz, multiply by X, and you get Tiplitz for an amateur.

He's a kid who feels around with alphas will worry this result.

All fight shows must have a semi-final.

No Henry Ford of the North End and Johnny Rose of Canada will battle in a ten-round event at the Grand Opera House.

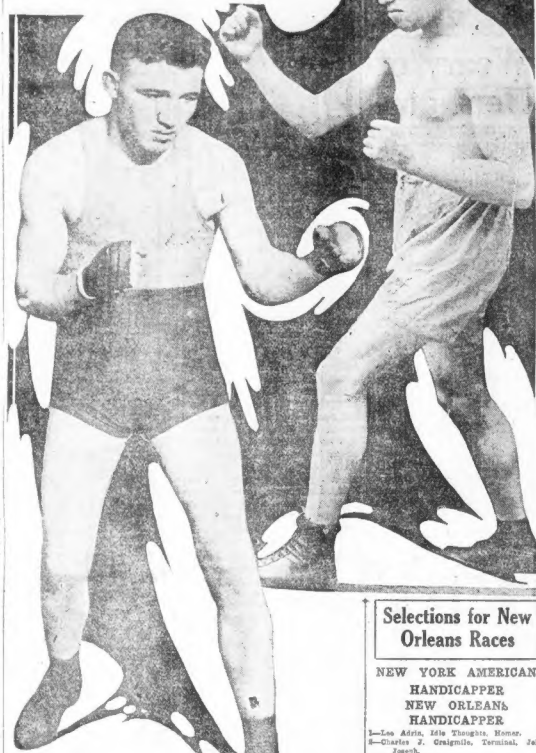

There will also be two fights. Benny Nelson of Lowell will mingle with Pat Kelly of South Boston, while Jimmy Smith of Brockton will try conclusions with Spike Hennessy of Waltham.

Amateurs or pro?

What's the difference between the two?

Doubtless, and a little bit more honest and open than the other. You can say which one this is.

Joe Tiplitz, above, the Quaker City star who has battled the best boys in New England, and Jack Lawlor, the Sleepy City boy's rival in roped arena.

DINNER

Bridget, the maid, approached her mistress.

"O! wouldst take a week's holiday, Miss Eileen," she said. "O! wouldst be married."

Her mistress gave her a week's holiday, a white dress, a veil and a cake.

At the end of the week Bridget returned.

"Miss Eileen," she exclaimed, "O! was the most lovely bride! My dress was perfect, my veil lovely, and the cake splendid."

"Well, Bridget, that sounds delightful," said her mistress. "Would you have got a good husband?"

Bridget's tone changed to one of indignation.

"Now Miss Eileen, an' what d'ye think? The spalpeen never turns up."

Even Cross, Bilious, Sick Children Love its Taste

By Ann Adams

DIR MISS ALICE:—
I returned to say Mr. when relating a boy of seventeen?
or instance: "Mr. Brown, meet me here to see to it that I am not in the way of Mr.
Brown's work." Many times I have seen Mr. Brown the day or the night of his return from his work, and I have seen him with a boy in the case of the President of the United States. The best form of introduction is: "Miss Jones, may I present Mr. Brown?"
You should use "Mr." when presented a boy of seventeen.
Never say, "Mr. Brown meet
Miss Jones" or "Mr. Jones meet
Miss Brown".
Sincerely,
Miss Alice

France in Germany to Stay

But Much Happens in One Thousand Years

Copyright, 1923, King Features

Figures showing profit and loss in the Ruhr and statements by the French authorities indicate that the Ruhr invasion is to mean a permanent seizure of territory, not temporary occupation.

General Degoutte has said to a Dutch newspaper correspondent, "If in a thousand years from now our claims against Germany are not settled, then in a thousand years we shall still be in the Ruhr." As the claim has not been officially changed from thirty thousand million gold dollars, which Germany can't pay, the occupation will probably continue. However, many things happen in 1,000 years.

Actual results thus far are not encouraging for the French pocketbook, although gratifying to the French desire for the breaking up of Germany.

In six weeks of occupation the French have taken out less than one hundred thousand tons of coal, costing thirty-five dollars a ton. Without the invasion Germans would have delivered to France in the six weeks nearly two million tons of coal free of cost, under the schedule of delivery before the invasion. However, it is not the coal or money the French are after so much as security for the future.

"Get Out of the Country"

That's Rather Harsh

Copyright, 1923, King Features

The Reverend Mr. Bowley, very serious clergyman, earnestly engaged in enforcing the laws to protect the Sabbath, has caused prosecution of theatre owners, and others, including a Catholic priest, who was fined $1 for producing the Passion Play on Sunday.

The fine was afterwards remitted, which seemed sensible. Certainly Sunday would be the best day for a Bible performance.

The Reverend Mr. Bowley suggests that all those that seek to change the laws in regard to Sunday observance, should be obliged immediately to quit the country. But that isn't the general understanding.

The understanding is that the majority may change laws as they choose, including Sunday laws if they proceed legally. Nobody, not even the Reverend Dr. Bowley, has the authority to make laws ETERNAL, or to say that a citizen must leave the United States because he would rather, on a Sunday, take a walk on the grass with a golf club than hear the Reverend Dr. Bowley preach. All should remember that the final authority is in the majority of the citizens, not, fortunately for the nation, in any individual, not even in the clergy or in any other class.

Railways and Banks

Recess Committee Recommends Changes in Present Law Governing Investments

The Recess Committee on Banks has made some recommendations which we think are good and some which we think are bad. Among the good ones the present law provides that no savings bank shall be allowed to invest in street railway bonds unless the street railway has paid dividends of 5 per cent. for a period of the five preceding years.

The committee suggests that the test shall cease to be the PAYING of dividends and shall become the EARNING OF TOTAL INTEREST CHARGES. If that change imports also that the Public Service Commission shall require a proper sinking fund for obsolescence and maintenance before interest charges are reckoned, we approve of the recommendation.

As the committee says, the street railway companies have been tempted to pay dividends of 5 per cent. long after they should have reduced these dividends or discontinued them altogether. The cause of the temptation was the necessity of paying these dividends in order to keep their bonds eligible for savings bank investments.

The committee very strongly and very properly denounces the scheme to make railroad equipment bonds savings bank investments. We quote the language of the committee:

"Notwithstanding the strong case which has been made for railroad equipment bonds by the proponents of this legislation, the past history of investments in railroad securities, together with the condition of the majority of railroads at the present time, is not such as would prompt the committee to place the stamp of approval of the Commonwealth upon an enlarged field of railroad investments."

This is sound, absolutely sound.

The 48-Hour Law

Those who in New Hampshire killed the forty-eight-hour law, alleging as one reason that it would cause industry to flow away from the higher level of labor costs thus raised to the lower level in the South, should consider the report of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts concerning the prosperity of Massachusetts industries.

It is the report of a very reactionary body, concerning which we have had many occasions to speak in praise. It is the nature of a confession, of a statement made against the interests and, therefore, surprisingly credible.

This organization of Massachusetts manufacturers reports that Massachusetts manufacturing has prospered this year and are in a healthy condition. Massachusetts, of course, has the forty-eight-hour law. Let New Hampshire, with her fifty-four-hour law, consider this fact.

Progress of China

Dr. T. Hsieh, of the Chinese Labor Board, gave a talk to the College of Business Administration, Boston University the other day. In the course of it he discussed progress in China and disagreed with our American Ambassador, Shuman, who said China was making no progress unless it was progress backward.

Dr. Hsieh insists that China is making real, though slow, progress. He also said he wished that there "would be fewer Chinese cleaning our collars and more educated Chinese in our educational institutions." It is a good idea; so do we.

Blue Hills for the People
Editor Boston American:
Thru the spotlight on the Blue Hills reservation again. Your editorial on the subject will not please many wealthy persons who have endeavored for years to prevent a maximum use of that great reservation by the mass of people for whom it was ostensibly purchased. Formerly, thousands of persons went to the Great Blue Hills and Houghton's Pond every Sunday and holiday to enjoy the great out-of-door, but since the Blue Hills State Railway ceased operations only persons fortunate enough to ride in automobiles have been able to visit this wonderful playground. It is only a few years since the Boston American's expose forced the Metropolitan Park Commission to compel the removal of a private gaming club situated from public observation land on the shores of Ponkapog Pond. Why should the State supply public reservations for the private use of millionaires capable of buying their own?

FRANK EDWARDS.
Ocean Rates
Editor Boston American:
I would like to see an article in your paper on the present scandal of ocean rates. There is nothing to justify ocean rates being up nearly 60 per cent at the present time. It is the greed of the companies. It's time something was done, as all immigrants land here crowded out, and money that ought to go towards a home expelling them, is being used to pay dividends.

Baby Chairs and Clothes
Editor Helping Hand:
I have a baby's high chair, also a nursery chair, that I would gladly give any mother who could use them. I also have a new jersey suit, size 38, and a box of children's clothes, both boys and girls, sizes from 1 to 6. I have a lot of nice fixtures, the gloves and gossamer-like that anyone can have when they are new. Please try to dispose of them as soon as possible, as I am about out of money.

MRS. J. R. M.
RD. NOTE—Thank you. The high chair and children's clothes would be very gladly appreciated. I will be sure to send you the jersey suit as needed by Mr. J. R. M. The box of children's clothes and the fixtures will be held for a day or two.

Editor Helping Hand:
I am a constant reader of the Helping Hand column and I was wondering if you think there would be anyone who would like to see a little girl who has been given away by Mr. G. T. I have a lot of nice fixtures, the gloves and gossamer-like that anyone can have when they are new. Please try to dispose of them as soon as possible, as I am about out of money.

Does Fanny Work
Editor Helping Hand:
I wonder if A. L. C. could spare one or two of her fancy work magazines. I am very fond of making fancy things, but at the present time I cannot afford to buy any magazines. I have just paid a large sickness and funeral bill. I am willing to pay the expense and trouble of sending them.

WORDS FROM THE LIPS OF WISE MEN

LIVE TO LEARN AND YOU WILL LEARN TO LIVE.

Jealousy is the apprehension of superiority.
To live long it is necessary to live slowly.
The man who believes in the man who achieves.
Learning makes a man fit company for himself.
Soundness is never at variance with substantial justice.
Of all history, the most instructive to a man is his own.

He is foolish to blame the man who is unperceived twice.
Unless you bear with the faults of a friend, you betray your own.

Who knows only his own side of the case knows little of that.
If you would have things come your way, you must go after them.
Our civilization in which we hold beauty contents that cause interest throughout the entire country would seem ludicrous to him.

Women there are very unattractive as a rule. But it doesn't matter—just so they are uninteresting workers.

This is the reason beauty is a discount in British Guiana. So much is it despised, that if a young girl shows any promise of looks she is required of such an amount of "WATERS" by a hideous scar.

This is branded upon her mouth and cheeks by some male relative. They are not content with changing her expression like the poor unfortunate boy in Hugo's "The Man Who Suffered." They go further. Into this wound a "scar" is rubbed. When the scar is healed it is a bluish tint.

In British Guiana to be "ugly" is better than to be beautiful. For beauty is indeed a "fatal gift."

HERCULES CONFERS WITH SOME OF THE HYDRA'S HEADS

By Herbert Kaufman

GREEK mythology tells of the hydra, a monster with a hundred heads. Hercules, among his other labors, was required to cut them off.

The transportation act, invoked as an anti-hydra statute, empowers Interstate Commerce Commissioners to play Hercules with the country's railroads.

The commission has been at work on a tentative plan to consolidate the lines west of Chicago into seven groups. President Holden of the C. B. & Q. believes that's too many.

He suggests instead that the Burlington, Santa Fe and the two Harriman properties should be severally expanded to cover all the district from the Great Lakes to the Gulf and from Chicago to the Pacific.

This will provide ample service and guarantee vigorous competition. Much profit-eating duplication would thereby be eliminated, millions saved through centralized inspection, purchasing and administration.

The fullest possible use of existing facilities assured, train handling expedited and a prompter, free movement of freight cars rendered possible.

A generally similar plan is contemplated for Eastern and Southern territories.

Mr. Calder, who so vehemently arraigns himself for supporting the act under which these centralizations proceed, may now give us his reasons against them.

Big Business Provokes Its Own Clubbings

America isn't against mere size. Our temperament inclines to Brobdingnagian stoutness as great as its plumes. Thinking folk aren't hostile to the existence of great corporations. We like economic triplammers—we invented them.

What we do fear and resent is the greedy abuse of power. Industries may be as giant as they please, provided they don't act the ogre.

Any present tendency to restrain the growth and liberty of basic enterprises is inspired by capital's own past overt acts.

Big business itself provokes most of the clubbings it gets. When there's less profiteering there'll be less polling.

But while predacious interests continue to send woeful minds to Congress the public will elect terrier barons to fight them. One set of extremists makes another.

Metal for Anarchy's Anvils

Seven million local anvils (Canada's total population is only 27,848,371) prosper alarm Secretary Davis. Here's an inference that can't become as great as its plumes.

The United States shall never feel secure while so many of its people remain unutilized. Agitators and malcontents won't find such fertile fields in the United States when these folk are informed of our traditions and purposes.

Here's the metal that anarchy hammers on the anvils of hate. This is the tinder that Bolshevism kindles with its flaming lies.

The Constitution and the Declaration of Independence might never have been written for all that the majority of them have ever heard of those immortal documents. They do not sense our justice or measure our intended generosity.

Cravily blind men, by the hundreds of thousands, left to become dull tools of rascality and exploitation, men whom enlightenment can sharpen for national service and communal benefit! Mainly abandoned to the meanest employments, sentenced by national indifference to remain helms of industries which they unconsciously hold at the mercy of their obstructive power.

We are not responsible for their beginnings, but unless we bring them under the flag some day they may be responsible for our end.

Kemal Waves the Scimitar Again

The moon went into a partial eclipse Friday night—so did all present prospect of order in Europe.

Mustapha Kemal, abandoning his reconciliation pose, catches spark from frobrand Nationalists and promises the Assembly that the allies can choose between war and Constantinople's terms. The Ottoman army is ready. For what?

Twelve million people can't hope to withstand combined England, France and Italy.

Alexander mused the world with thirty thousand men, but not in a day of cordite, aerial bombs and machine guns. Kemal is talking through his fex.

The Dragon Without a Claw

China wants her own Lorraine-Lorraine. She objects to the extension of the Kwan Tung lease, begs Japan to forget the twenty-one demands and quit occupancy in March. China's note is not written with the bayonet. There's no prospect that it's written with effect. Poor daddering old dragon with four hundred million human scales and not a claw.

Incidentally, two situations into which we would be drawn if members of the world court today.

He Tells Us to "Put Up or Shut Up"

News for folk still convinced that continental powers are more interested in our views than cash.

Peritax, commonly credited with President Millard's private views, boldly states that England and America may intervene in the Ruhr only by insuring the full collection of indemnities. We must also agree to protect France and Belgium against invasion. "Put up or shut up" talk.

"It's no use replying 'League of Nations' to our demands. We must guarantee directly against the States which subscribe to them. So long as American and English diplomacy hesitate over these dominant questions, so long has France the right to take no heed of their counsels."

Many more such crows from chancery and the fear that the United States "will also count on receiving the other seven billion dollars owed by other debtors" will prove well founded.
